Q. Talk about what the challenge is coming out on day two after you have a career-best 63 day one? What kind of mindset do you have to get into to score well?

CHARLEY HULL: It's kind of hard obviously backing up a really good score the day before. Then in your mind you're thinking, oh, can I get to 60, do you know what I mean?

I felt like I played pretty solid out there today. I holed some good putts and I missed some that I probably should have holed, but it was a bit windy out there today. It was a little bit trickier on some of the holes, but I'm pretty happy with that and looking forward to the weekend.

Q. You're in your 11th year on the LPGA Tour. How would you say you've matured as a player, and where are you at right now in your career as all, just shy of 30 years old, right?

CHARLEY HULL: Yeah, 29 years old but I still feel young. Feel like I'm just working harder than ever, so, yeah, just coming into my prime I feel like.

Q. Speaking about working hard, we've talked about your workout process before you play. Yesterday you were up at 4:00 a.m. for two-hour workout; today was a recovery day. Talk to us a little about the process and what this workout does for you as a person and player?

CHARLEY HULL: Well, I don't work out for golf. I just do it for my like mental side. Like sometimes you can struggle with it but I just found it gives me so much more energy and it kind of like gives me so much more to focus on. Like sometimes when I come weeks away on Tour I feel like it's just a chilled one because I work so hard at home, so when I come away like train before my rounds and just playing 18 holes of golf doesn't feel like much at all.
