

Trust Golf Women's Scottish Open

Sunday, July 31, 2022

Troon, Scotland, UK

Dundonald Links

Cheyenne Knight

Quick Quotes

weather that you come to expect but it's good.

FastScripts by ASAP Sports

Q. Four great rounds in the 60s. How has your week been?

CHEYENNE KNIGHT: It's been good. Played solid and made a lot of birdies this week which is nice. Some of us made a lot more, but yeah, game is feeling good, especially going into next week at Muirfield. Just excited to be trending the right way.

Q. Is links golf traditionally something that you love playing or something that you've grown to love this week?

CHEYENNE KNIGHT: I've always loved playing it. I came here for the first time when I was like 12 years old on a golf trip with my dad, and you just have to embrace it. You get the wind, you get some funky lies, and I just like being creative out here is fun and I embrace the challenge.

Q. And obviously you're going to The Open next week, so how have your preparations gone, and how important is it to play links golf ahead of next week?

CHEYENNE KNIGHT: I think it's important to get used to hitting a lot of different shots and a lot of different yardages with your clubs, flighting ball. Feeling good.

You know, just kind of -- we didn't have a lot of wind this week, so just kind of next week, just keep adjusting and it requires a lot of shots in the wind. I think it's great prep and this is a great golf course, great test.

Q. I was going to ask you how you found the course this week. Did you play in 2017?

CHEYENNE KNIGHT: I did not.

Q. How did you enjoy it?

CHEYENNE KNIGHT: I've loved it. We had nice weather. It's been -- feels like summer here. Not any crazy links

