Ashleigh Buhai

Quick Quotes

Q. All right, I'm here with Ashleigh Buhai. Great round today. You birdied every par-5 out there. Was that kind of the goal heading into today? Talk us through your round.

ASHLEIGH BUHAI: Not a real goal. Just trying to go out there and play golf, not play for a score, do what I've been doing the last few weeks. I know it sounds repetitive, but it's helping me play good golf -- as long as I stay in the moment.

Obviously the par-5s are pretty gettable here. I'm an average hitter out here in terms of length, but today I could get up to like two of them. One played a lot more into the wind than normal, but I made a good up and down from about 75 meters.

Q. You had good finishes at Cognizant Founders Cup and Mizuho Americas Open this past week. Is there anything you're working on in your game in the past few weeks?

ASHLEIGH BUHAI: My coach came out for Founders and we picked up something there and I was able to put it into play straightaway.

Just, you know, the rhythm for me is what keeps my golf swing intact, and then it was just more about brining the club into the back of the ball. It's simple stuff. And then, yeah, just trying to just run with the same things.

And then in terms of just sticking to my processes and my routine and not trying to be away from that.

Q. And then headed into tomorrow, any strategy or game plan mentally or game-wise?

ASHLEIGH BUHAI: Just keep doing what I'm doing. Same mental thoughts. Same sticking to my process. I can control that. I can't control the golf shot after that.

Just commit, and if it doesn't come off, just try and do the next one better.
