ANGEL YIN: And protein.

FastScripts by ASAP Sports

Q. And she in a good mood, delighted mood. Congratulations on taking Jeeno Thitikul down, who has basically steamrolled over everybody until she came to you. What was the flavor of the match today?

ANGEL YIN: I think we were both pretty tired so it was a lot of back and forth. Probably like 1-up, 1-down, 1-down, 1-up. So she's really good. 8&7 the first match, and so it was very impressive. I know she's been like 5&4, 4&3 every match she's played this week, so just tried to play my own game.

Q. How about this golf course? Getting a better feel for it? Seems like this chip shot didn't faze you and that was difficult.

ANGEL YIN: Getting a little bit better, but still complaining a lot. Just some holes that are just so difficult. I still haven't really quite figured out. I did hit the first green I think it was on 14, so I'm really excited.

Q. It's a tough walk out here, a lot of golf played, potentially a couple more matches to win. What are you doing to do rest and rejuvenate? Are you a gambler? Do you like to go out for a good meal? Get a massage?

ANGEL YIN: I've been eating a lot. Got really tired. Got really light-headed on 12 so just started shoving crackers and jerky into my mouth. I was like, wow, this is really tiring.

I've been eating really good. Too good probably. I'm working it out right now.

Q. I hope you can find something better than crackers and peanuts and things like that.

ANGEL YIN: I don't know. Keeps me going. Carbs.

Q. Carb loading.
