Quick Quotes

Q. How does it feel being done?

KAREN CHUNG: I'm so happy. I'm honestly so happy. I blacked out the last couple holes on the back nine because of the rain, but, you know, I made it through. That's all that matters.

Q. And then eighth right now. Obviously scores are in. Scores are final. How does it feel just knowing you're moving on to Q-Series?

KAREN CHUNG: I'm so happy. Last year I shanked my second shot here into the water and missed it by one or two I think, and that kind of hurt me for a bit.

So to come back here and play way better than I did last year, I'm just happy.

Q. And then taking this momentum, obviously when Stage II was supposed to be a month ago you had a little bit of time between Stage II and Q-Series. How will you take the momentum from playing so well here into those next two weeks in Alabama?

KAREN CHUNG: I mean, it definitely gives me some good vibes going into next week for final series, but I still got some thing to work on. Especially if it's raining again in Alabama, I definitely have stuff to work on. I have a week, so still a lot of time. I'm excited for final stage.
