Q. Probably the worst score you could have shot. Did it feel the same way to you?

JEENO THITIKUL: No, I mean, nothing in my mind today. I trying to keep making birdies, birdies, birdies, because, you know, like this course is kind of like, you know, really low score, so that's all in my mind, like trying to hole the putts.

Q. It's a 72-hole tournament. Last year you decided to play 81 holes.

JEENO THITIKUL: I'm not decided.

Q. Yeah, you tend to play well everywhere, but hat is it specifically about KL?

JEENO THITIKUL: Of course going to be the fans there, and then the golf course is one of my favorite. Like I play here last year is the first time, so this is the second, but I love it. Every time that I play, the more I play the more I fall in love with it.

So, yeah, it's pretty much I like about this course at KL.

Q. It's getting tight at the top, but you may have a chance that may have a tee times with your bestie, Ronni Yin, tomorrow. Are you relishing that proposition?

JEENO THITIKUL: Yeah, we just texting each other today because it's been three tournaments in row we been playing together, and hopefully tomorrow as well. Having her on the course in the same group, it's just make me more relax and then, you know, we talk a lot.
