it out there, and I did that today.

Q. A day when you started five shots behind the leader and needed something special to get yourself right in the mix, how good does 65 feel?

ALEX NOREN: It feels amazing. I struggled yesterday and the first day. I scored well the first day, and then talked to my coach, needed to work on some stuff. Came here a little bit earlier this morning, which I never before a late round. It paid off today.

Q. You came in here off two Top 10s on the PGA TOUR, so clearly playing well. How well do you feel you're playing?

ALEX NOREN: I didn't play very good the last two days. Like I said, I scored well. I played really good last at Wyndham, and then I had two weeks off, and I don't know what happened, but now -- I was still scoring well, putting well. Then today I hit the ball so much better than the last two days. It was an easy day, but also great weather. No wind at all. It was a day for scoring.

Q. You missed seven months of Ryder Cup qualification, so the chances of making the team were getting close to virtually impossible, but your form you're showing and your pedigree in the past, your Ryder Cup experience, Luke Donald has got to be watching, hasn't he? Are you saying, hey, hey, look, I'm over here?

ALEX NOREN: I don't think so. I'm not really focusing on that. I'm focusing more on my game. I haven't played enough to really -- I haven't played enough of those tournaments with the big boys.

I'm not really thinking about that actually. It's nice to get back to playing good. That's all I'm trying to do. Trying to play a game that I want to play, and not just like yesterday when it doesn't feel good, and you just have to fight; enjoy
