Quick Quotes

Q. Your level of consistency, what worked well out there for you today?

MIN WOO LEE: Yeah, again, just pretty solid. Didn't do anything spectacular kind of in the back nine. Just hung in there. And I hit -- the shots were okay, and just going to go on the range and try to figure it out just a little bit. But, no, it was a solid day.

Q. The challenges of the golf course, what have you learned from the golf course the last two days that's helped?

MIN WOO LEE: You just got to keep plodding along. You got to hit it on the fairway. That seems like it's the key to making birdies. Out of the rough it can be a little bit tricky. And holing some putts. A few putts there I just missed. So just got to capitalise tomorrow, and hopefully we'll see at the end of it.

Q. You're a three-time winner on the DP World Tour and one-time winner on the PGA TOUR, so you've been in plenty of situations where you've led and chased. What can you take into the final round tomorrow from those experiences?

MIN WOO LEE: Yeah, you can really get away with the moment. I think that's the one thing I learned throughout my time as a professional. You just got to keep hitting shots and keep mentally -- obviously, mentally strong.

But it's not done till the end, and you've just got to keep going. Every shot matters. And it's so easy to just be result-based, which I think everyone has been a victim of. And you just got to keep swinging, and hopefully the result is good enough at the end.

Q. How do you keep in the moment?

MIN WOO LEE: It's all experience. You want to ask that question to everyone who's won one, but everyone is a little different. You just got to have -- fundamentally and technique-wise, you want it to be upheld under pressure.

That's the main thing. And then you've got all of that on a dial.

If you're playing well and you're in the lead, you're obviously doing something right. So you can just keep doing what you're doing. And obviously it's working, so I just try to keep working on what I'm doing.
