Celine Boutier

Q. Great finish and great last round. Can you describe it for us?

CELINE BOUTIER: Sure, it was a very, I feel like up-and-down kind of round. I started with a bogey so that wasn't the best part. I just managed to stay patient and I kind of made a couple of birdies at the end on 17 and 18 really helped me out a lot. It was playing tough, but you just had to stay patient and not be too do you know on yourself.

Q. A good way to finish the majors this year, one of your best results, and how do you feel about that and how do you feel like as a major player, because you are a major player?

CELINE BOUTIER: Yeah, it definitely feels great. I definitely wanted to play strong on this one, and I missed two cuts, the KPMG and Evian, so it feels good to finish with a good round and finish in a major. I'm excited for next year and just get another chance at winning majors.

Q. It's tough to take things from this week because the conditions and golf are different, but what things do you think you can use this week for the rest of the season?

CELINE BOUTIER: I think you can take a lot from this week, actually because I feel like you have to be really strong mentally on this course. It's a grind out there. You have to be really patient but at the same time really hungry. You have to be very aggressive when you can, when you have the chances and it tells a lot about the player.

Q. What are your plans now? What are you playing next?

CELINE BOUTIER: I have two weeks off I think before the next PGA event that's in Canada I think.
