Jeeno Thitikul

chance for to you make under par.

Q. Bit of a struggle out there today for the most part.

JEENO THITIKUL: I think it's really tougher than yesterday morning for sure. I think like not many people on like my draw that hitting, you know, like under par a lot.

I think the wind is really picking up.

Q. Particularly some of the holes that are downwind carry-outs were really, really tough to judge. Is that good estimation?

JEENO THITIKUL: Yeah, I know. Even me, you know, not from links course, from the country that has a lot of wind like this, but I think on my experience at a couple years ago that I play here on links course, it just like really have to be committed where you will land the ball.

Some holes like 200 yards but I need to hit my 8-iron which you need a really high commitment.

Q. The lead is 11-under par. Do you think that's reachable by some people? Can some people catch up?

JEENO THITIKUL: I think everything can happen, especially links course. I think leader, top of the leaderboard and us is like different draw, because they got afternoon and morning, but we got morning and afternoon, which is -- I think this afternoon is really, really windy and not many people that can get like under par like a lot as in the morning.

So we'll see in this next few days. Definitely going to have wind like us today.

Q. How much harder do you think the golf course played today compared to yesterday?

JEENO THITIKUL: A lot harder I guess, especially in the back nine. Like I said, because in the back nine 14, 15, 16 is kind of long stretch that is not an easy hole.

It's the hole that you definitely can get a bogey easily. I think if you can par through 14, 16 that's a really good
