

Women's Amateur Asia-Pacific Championship

Quick Quotes

Sunday, 12 March 2023

Minsol Kim

Q. How are you feeling?

MINSOL KIM: I am feeling a little bit disappointed, but at the same time, also I'm happy with my scores.

Q. Can you talk us through your round today.

MINSOL KIM: In general, my play was okay. My condition and my shots, my long game, everything was okay, but unluckily, my putting wasn't really well. That's it.

Q. You still got a few birdies out there. What happened? How did that play out for you?

MINSOL KIM: I strongly remember hole 16 today. I made a birdie on the 2nd hole, and then until 16, it was the chip to secure the par, so that's why I remember that hole. It was like a turning point hole.

Q. Have there been any challenges for you this week?

MINSOL KIM: Compared to the first and second rounds, starting the third round yesterday, my putting wasn't as great as the previous two rounds. So yes, that's all I'm thinking of right now.

Q. Have you got any memories or anything from this week that you'll be looking back on? How has your experience been as a whole, on or off the golf course?

MINSOL KIM: I had a chance to go for a walk with my parents just around the hotel. I felt it's very clean, and combined with the nature and the metropolitan city, which made me so impressed.

Q. What's next for you? What are your goals?

MINSOL KIM: About two, three weeks, I'm going to Augusta National for the Augusta National Women's Amateur. I'm hoping I can really enjoy it, and I'm really looking forward to visiting the Augusta National Golf Club.

Q. What about after that? What are your goals for the future?

MINSOL KIM: This is just the beginning of this year, and my short-term goal is to be a winner of any international tournaments I will be participating in. That's my goal.

Q. Will we be seeing you back here next year?

MINSOL KIM: Absolutely. Looking forward to coming back to the WAAP next year.

FastScripts by ASAP Sports