Q. How do you like the new city? How are you feeling in the new threads?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: It's going well right now so far and loving the new threads and loving the new team right now.

Q. What do you think about the second unit, what are you seeing with that group?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: I agree with what you said. It's a lot of talent. Just got to get some practice together and get a little chemistry together but other than that, I feel like it could work. It really can, because you have everything you need out there on the floor.

Q. You've been with different teams but what's the vibe you're getting so far around these guys?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: Professionalism. Everyone is working hard. Everyone is getting their work in, extra work and the staff just doing a great job taking care of us. It's very professional.

Q. Steve was talking how critical of a signing you were, what's the combination of feel like the new guy by having years of experience as well?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: It's weird being the new guy. Being real quiet right now until I break the ice. Other than that, man, I feel like I fit in great. They play hard. They get after teams. Didn't realize how great of a defensive team this was. So just a hard-nosed team and they play the right way.

Q. And you emphasized bringing that dog mentality when you first came here, doing all the little things. What do you think that's going to be like with Draymond on the court as well?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: It's going to be fine. We going to get under a lot of people's skin. Going to be a lot of trash talking. There's going to be a lot of bumping. That's what I live for. I love it.

Q. Draymond is well-known for being able to speak his mind and say what he thinks and getting people's faces and everything. How would you describe your relationship with him?

JaMYCHAL GREEN: We've known each other since eighth grade, AAU, and playing USA together, coming out of high school and going into college. It's a respect thing. We both know we play hard and we both know we got attitude. It works well, yeah.
