An Interview with:

Christopher Bell

Q. Christopher Bell on a green/white checkered finish in what was a wild Atlanta race. Somehow you came from 32nd and found a way get it done today. As he gets a hug from his wife, how did you do that? You found a way to get it done. How did you do that?

CHRISTOPHER BELL: I'll tell you what, that right there is what you dream of, to be able to restart on the first or second row in a green/white checkered in a speedway. You never know how those things are going to play out, but I'll be the first to tell you, I love superspeedways (laughing).

I don't know. This style of racing has just always been a little bit of a struggle for me, and throughout the beginning of the day we obviously were just stuck way in the back. Adam and these boys back here, they did an amazing job getting this thing fixed up to where I could just hold my foot down. That's what it's all about. You have to be able to stay in the throttle, and that last half of the race we were at our best.
