Paula Reto

Quick Quotes

THE MODERATOR: Take us through the week, obviously highlighting playing your way into AIG next week. Talk about the feelings about that.

PAULA RETO: You know what, at the beginning of the week, I told myself I'm just going to enjoy the tournament. I'm in the tournament, here in the Scottish Open, and I love coming here and being able to play Scottish weather; it's different.

Obviously I love that you don't have to hit perfect shots. So just that's something I really love to do, and being able to qualify today, I made like a good save on the last hole. I was really hoping it will bring me in.

I didn't know where I was at all day. Obviously it was in my mind. I just kept reminding myself, hey, I'm here. But so many good things about this week, the people, volunteers and everything about this is great, and we had like really good weather the whole week. So this is perfect.

THE MODERATOR: What will you take away from this week heading into another week of links golf next week?

PAULA RETO: Yeah, same things. One or two things I want to clean up on, like some of the punch shots, some of the side winds. I just want to make sure I practise those, and that way, I have that during competition.
