Q. All right, Karrie, what a wonderful week here just in general; what was it like having the crowds follow you out here when you saw all the support you have out here?

KARRIE WEBB: Yeah, it was good. I think I knew most of the people that were following, though, so I don't know if that counts.

But, yeah, no, it's always nice to come back here. Little disappointed in how I played. I didn't expect it to be super sharp, but thought I was in a better place with my game before this week.

But just wasn't meant to be.

Q. What is it like to see all your friends and family out here really giving you that support in a place that I know means a lot to you?

KARRIE WEBB: Yeah, it's fun. I think they love the excuse of everyone getting together so I'm glad I can provide that for everyone. It's always good to catch up with everyone.

Q. I know we'll see you couple times this summer as it relates to the Olympics as well as the coach of the men's and women's team. How excited are you to get raring as we get closer to Paris?

KARRIE WEBB: Yeah, the buildup is coming quick and fast now. The men's team will be decided after next week and the women's the following week, or couple weeks after that actually.

So, yeah, I'm excited about that, just at least to know who the team is. I think on the women's side we know two for sure. Just whether Gabi has a good couple weeks, maybe sneaks in there.

Otherwise, I'm really looking forward to it. Just looking forward to being a part of it.
