Q. Ladies, and you're down 4 after five. What are you telling each other, Jennifer, as you come through there, to keep fighting back?

JENNIFER KUPCHO: I don't think we really told each other a whole lot. I think we just believe in ourself, and we knew we were hitting the shots we wanted to hit and it just wasn't going our way. So we just kept doing that and got us to the last hole here.

Q. It comes down to a half point. You know how important it is. What do you take from this, Ally, fighting back and almost pulling it off at the end?

ALLY EWING: Like Jen said, 4-down through five, it felt like a pretty big hole. We talked about it in the team room how big a half point is. Still early on you feel like you can fight back to a full point.

Still being down with a few holes left, we felt like we were grinding, clawing back. We got it here to 18. Still good momentum for us.

Q. With the Americans, good start this morning. We know how important it is getting the crowd behind you. How important is that?

ALLY EWING: I think it's huge. The fans on U.S. soil is really special. The more and more fans we hear, the better. Crowd interaction, there's nothing like it.
