Quick Quotes

Q. Walk us through your round today and some highlights of your round.

ANGEL YIN: The front nine was pretty good, which was the back nine, because I find it harder. Greens are more undulating, and there's more challenging holes. They're not that gettable, especially like 16 where it's really a par hole, and if you can make a par, it's almost like a birdie because it's just a very difficult shot in, tee shot, as well, and then the putting green.

Yeah, and then the back nine I got really tired. I kind of rolled into the clubhouse, was stumbling.

Q. You played well here last year, too. How have you tried to be consistent in the past two rounds?

ANGEL YIN: Just kind of stick to my game plan and then just playing my game. I'm playing better than last year when I was here, so giving me a little bit more confidence. But yeah, just kind of playing my game, not thinking too much about it.

Q. Did you find anything more challenging on the course today compared to yesterday?

ANGEL YIN: Pin locations were a little tougher. They were more tucked into the green, for example, like 9. I think the pin locations overall were tougher than last year, less gettable, more challenging, but it's all good for the golf course to do something like that.
