Quick Quotes

Q. Joining us after the final round of The Chevron Championship is Hannah Green. Hannah, good finish this week. You've had some struggles at this championship in the past. Can you talk a bit about this year compared to the last few?

HANNAH GREEN: Yeah, I feel like, I don't know, it was probably more of a mental battle around Carlton Woods than it was my actual golf game. It was kind of nice to hear there was a change of venue as I had kind of put Carlton in a place where I don't perform well.

Yeah, I think I'm somewhere in the Top 10 at the moment. I don't really know if it'll stay like that. It was nice today to feel like it kind of had been the last four, five events. Felt like the first couple days hit some shots that I haven't really hit all year. Yeah, it was just nice that my driver actually behaved this weekend as well.

Q. From your scorecards it looked like you had a pretty even and level week. Nothing too high or too low. Did it feel like that out there on the course?

HANNAH GREEN: Yeah, I think so. I think I did make one double if the first round and I felt like that kind of put a sour taste in my round. I felt like the round was actually better than that.

Yeah, I felt like overall nothing was too flash, but it definitely could have obviously improved.

Yeah, overall I'm pretty happy with this as my first major performance.

Q. Your consistency is something that's very impressive. Even your win at JM last week, you were just consistent and kind of quiet through the week until you pulled it out. Do you think that's something you take a lot of pride in, and how do you manage to do so even at these bigger stages?

HANNAH GREEN: Yeah, I think now that I guess I'm in the Top 10 or Top 5 in the world I feel like, yeah, more eyeballs are on me, which has been something I haven't had to really deal with. A lot of times I have been able to fly under the radar or come from behind and have a win.

So it's kind of different coming into the major with more attention on me. It is definitely something I have to learn to get used to, as I hope I can continue this run I'm on.

Yeah, adds a lot of pressure, but I also want to perform well in these events. It's nice to get off to a good start. I am really excited to go to Riviera obviously being in California, and also Hazeltine National, somewhere close to my heart. I haven't been there since I won, so really strange and cool week to get there.

I've got a week off next week and then Mizuho is my next event, so I am really looking forward to that. Hopefully I can use this momentum into that event.
