

Kroger Queen City Championship presented by P&G

Sunday, September 14, 2025

Maineville, Ohio, USA

TPC River's Bend

Charley Hull

TV

Q. I'm not sure who's more shocked by what just transpired here on the 72nd hole. As they say, you never know. It's not over until it's absolutely over. Your initial reaction to that last putt that you had to make to win for third time on Tour.

CHARLEY HULL: Yeah, I just thought I had to make the eagle to be fair. I wasn't really watching her putt for birdie because I thought she was going to hole it.

Then, yeah, I guess it's not over until the fat lady sings, but I was shaking over that last putt because I just didn't expect it.

But, yeah, feels pretty good.

Q. What does this say about you and your ability, the way you approach this game? You treat it as a game. You love playing this game of golf. You've had a lot of heartache. Now you get to feel some true joy.

CHARLEY HULL: Yeah, I felt like it was weird, because on 17 I hit an actually pretty good, decent tee shot. I felt pretty pumped. I couldn't miss in the left rough. The bunker is fine, but I was in the lip of the bunker. If I was three feet back I would've had a shot to the green. So bogeyed that one and birdied the last. Yeah, it was pretty cool.

Q. Charley, you were runner-up here two years ago and now you're the champion of the Kroger Queen City Championship.

CHARLEY HULL: Feels pretty good. Now I get to go home and see my boyfriend.

FastScripts by ASAP Sports

