Q. Just your thoughts on the round?

BRIAN HARMAN: Yeah, just didn't drive it very good. I was trying to make some stuff happen, and it just didn't happen today.

Q. When you reflect back on this week, what's going to stand out to you?

BRIAN HARMAN: My lowest round. This has been my worst major by a mile, I think. I had my lowest round, saw some good golf out there at times. I hate to say it, but eight years in, you're still learning this place. I just got out too far in front of myself a few times out there.

Q. You talked about really how much it meant that your family was able to come here and experience this. What does that mean to you?

BRIAN HARMAN: Yeah, it's why we do it. It's cool. My kids went home after the par-3, but they got to come out and watch a practice round, which I thought was really good. They do a really nice job, and the families, it's nice in our day and age everyone comes out here with no phones and everyone has to pay attention and people are talking -- my wife says it's her favorite week of the year. She gets to come out and socialize and walk around, and she loves it.

Q. (On talking the kids out of leaving phones behind).

BRIAN HARMAN: We're pretty good about it. Pretty good.
