Quick Quotes

Q. How was it starting?

URSULA WILKSTROM: It was at least like yesterday, I played in the afternoon so it's much breezier than today so it should be easier. The golf course is getting nice. Rolling better. A bit firmer greens so it's playing quite nicely.

Q. So how have you performed here in the past? Is it a course you like?

URSULA WILKSTROM: I like the course. I know I have at least a few rounds but I don't remember. I like the place. I like to play here and I like the course, like this type of course suits me and suits my game, anyway.

Q. Why I was asking is obviously form right now seems very good, and then do you feel like this is as good as your form has been?

URSULA WILKSTROM: I don't know. Like this all fall, I've started to play a bit better so things have been going a bit nicer way. This morning, I was just like nothing on the ball when I got on the range. I thought I'm never going to get on the golf course today, but when I got there, I started to feel a bit better. I have no idea about the form. Everything feels quite okay, and it's always a matter of do you sink the putts or not; do you play on the right side of the green. Some of these greens are tricky. Especially when they start getting firmer.

Q. Watching you obviously in Ireland and you're stepping up there, and London and more and more we're seeing you featuring.

URSULA WILKSTROM: That's the plan.

Q. Has there been anything that you've been working with or on?

URSULA WILKSTROM: No, not really. Even in the beginning of the season, I sort of felt like I was hitting okay. I wasn't putting good. That's what has been always like my issue, like I've been always on and off struggling with that.

Now it's getting a bit better, and I just couldn't make a score. I was scoring like badly. I didn't feel that bad but just the scoring was really bad, all the time, doing my best, whatever I can. But now it seems to be a bit easier.

Q. Are you done on the putting then?

URSULA WILKSTROM: Nothing like big changes. I keep changing my putter all the time, anyway.

Q. How many putters did you have this year?

URSULA WILKSTROM: Only three. This one came in France, which I'm doing now but then there was one which was only a few weeks with me and another one.
