Bilal Coulibaly

Media Conference

Heat - 118, Wizards - 98

Q. How different would you describe the French crowd from the Mexican crowd?

BILAL COULIBALY: I don't know. We'd have to play an NBA game over there. The Mexican crowd was really loud today. It was cool playing here, and I hope we play here again.

Q. I want to know what did you get from the experience here in Mexico City? What did you kept all the way down from Washington? What was the main things you kept from Mexico City and all the experience?

BILAL COULIBALY: I really like the people. Like Spanish people, I really like them. Even in France, it's close to Spain. So I like these people, always enjoying themselves and everything.

I like the coach over there. We came here at the right time because of the día de los muertos and everything. So I really like the moment.

Q. What do you think about the impact of the globalization of basketball? Right now we can see that many players from many countries are succeeding in the NBA from all around the world. The last Olympics was just a great experience to see many All-Stars playing over there. How do you think this sport is impacting all around the world?

BILAL COULIBALY: Yeah, I love it because we're bringing something different to the basketball, like even in the NBA, because back then it was only like American people. Now we bring a lot of overseas guys.

Even like you can tell the players we're running in games are coming from overseas, even the All-Stars and everything. Yeah, we're changing the game.
