Quick Quotes

Q. Jon, it was a solid round today, tough conditions. I have two questions. What were you pleased about the most, and what tested your patience out there?

JON RAHM: I think towards our final nine holes, the wind started switching, so there was a few shots, like on 12, you could see with both Thomas and Talor, it was supposed to be off the left and it was dead in off the right. The subsequent holes with 14 and 15, it's just not the easiest trying to guess, once it's transitioning to a different wind. In theory it wasn't supposed to today. I think that was the biggest test.

In general, this golf course is not easy. The greens are firm. They're very, very good. They're rolling great. So if you're feeling good with the putter, you can have a lot of good chances. But it's not easy. You've got to hit fairways and be really accurate with the mid-irons.

Q. You and I had a conversation last year about playing the par-5s better. Well, you've played them very well. You've birdied or better every single par-5 since Hong Kong as well as today. What's changed? What's been the main difference for you?

JON RAHM: I think it's one of those things we're looking into too much possibly. I'm hitting it better off the tee, so it all starts with that on a par-5 where you've got to put it in play. Once you're in play, I'm long enough to have a comfortable number usually into the par-5s, and I think that's been the main difference. It's just everything so far this year is just a little bit better than it's been in the past.

Q. Bryson said earlier he's going to go have some chocolate milk and hit some drives. What's Jon Rahm going to do this afternoon on a day like this?

JON RAHM: Neither one of those two things, I can promise you that. Even though I do look like I would enjoy some chocolate milk, I don't know. I don't know. I'm going to get back, sign some autographs here, get back and see how I feel before I decide to do anything.
