Q. Joaco, great round today. You talked about focusing on your own game when it comes to the individual title. How difficult is that to do when you have the footsteps of Jon Rahm and Bryson DeChambeau right behind you?

JOAQUÍN NIEMANN: It depends on the way you look at it. I think it's fun. I think I'm on a really privileged situation to be on the top of the rankings and being chased by Jon and Bryson. It just makes me a better athlete.

I like that pressure. I like playing like that. I've just got to try my best.

Q. You had a disappointing week at The Open. What about a tough week like that makes you bounce back the way you did today?

JOAQUÍN NIEMANN: Yeah, I think even harder, obviously, is I didn't play the way I wanted. I feel like my putter was a little bit off for the first two days. But it's part of it, and it was tough, and then I was able to focus and kind of reset myself into the last three, four tournaments of the season, which I think is really important.

We're back at it.
