

JM Eagle LA Championship

Saturday, April 27, 2024

Los Angeles, California, USA

Hannah Green

TV

Q. Strange day for us watching. Seemed like players were really struggling, but when you look at the leaderboard, there was a 64 and a 63 on there. Can you put your finger on why it was difficult for the later starters?

HANNAH GREEN: Yeah, it actually wasn't that windy. It just got a little bit bumpy towards the end, which typically happens on poana.

I didn't really have many full swings. Had a lot of half shots in. With the greens firming up and getting bouncy it kind of made it hard to completely trust that shot.

Yeah, there was a lot of low scores this morning. Obviously if you get the putter hot it's doable. And if you give yourself as many opportunities uphill you can be aggressive.

Felt like Esther and I today had a lot of downhill putts so kind of had to almost lag them don't even with a 10-footer.

Hopefully tomorrow keep myself in the tournament.

Q. You put yourself back in it on the back nine. Now, as you say, you have a chance to win again. What is it about this golf course you love so much?

GRACE KIM: I don't know. I typically hit a lot of fairways and a lot of greens and kind of remember putts and how to you play around the greens. I was a bit slack. I had a couple short putts that I missed today, so I am probably going to hit some more after we speak.

I just feel very comfortable. I think the putt that I made on 18 almost felt like I birdie if you weren't actually there. I have a lot of people supporting me here this week.

FastScripts by ASAP Sports