Sunday Singles Matches

Q. Patrick, gigantic smile, can you give us a sense of all the individual success you've had, how that compares to what this week has been like?

PATRICK CANTLAY: This is definitely different. I mean, I woke up this morning and I was trying to tell the guys -- this is going to be the next era of Ryder Cup Team for the U.S. side. We have a lot of young guys and I think they are going to be on teams for a long time and I want to send a mentally.

I think the young guys on this team get along really well. We sent out rookies maybe four out of the first five matches. I mean, that's unheard of and those guys are performing. Everybody gets along. The atmosphere is light but I know everyone has that killer instinct and we are going to bring that to future Cups.
