p.m. Quick Quotes

Q. Cam, you've just made your Ryder Cup debut in your home state at a course that you know so well. Five birdies, a point on the board with Justin Thomas. Describe the experience.

CAMERON YOUNG: It's pretty special. I love this place, and this is a team we worked really hard to make. We're just super grateful. To have the opportunity to play today alongside him in front of these fans is pretty special.

Q. JT, you're the veteran. I know you were disappointed with your match this morning. How did you turn it around to get the win this afternoon?

JUSTIN THOMAS: I really just kind of sat back and watched the show. I tried to help when I could, but I'm just so happy for Cam but I'm proud of him. Playing in your first Ryder Cup is really hard, but playing in front of your home fans I would imagine is even harder, but he definitely played like the veteran today. It's been fun watching his game progress, and I'm glad I got to sit alongside the show today.

Q. Cameron, what a Ryder Cup debut and in your home state as well. Just talk us through your emotions.

CAMERON YOUNG: Yeah, I've been looking forward to this so much over the past few weeks and obviously much longer than that, ever since I got the call to be on the team.

Yeah, it's a lot of emotions. It's excitement. It's some nerves. But I had a great partner to kind of walk me through the day, and thankfully we've played some good golf.

Q. You've been here; you've done it before. How about a word for your partner on his rookie appearance and a word for the crowd as well because they really showed up this afternoon.

JUSTIN THOMAS: It was epic. I'm so proud of Cam. It's really hard to put into words how hard it is to play with those kind of nerves, let alone in front of your home crowd. He stepped up, every situation, every time he could. It was really, really impressive to watch, and I'm very proud that he's my partner. It was awesome.

Q. How important is that point on the board for USA late in the day on Friday?

JUSTIN THOMAS: Yeah, it's very important. Every point matters. It wasn't the start we wanted this morning, but just trying to get a couple of these matches finishing and then get after it again tomorrow.
