Q. Through four sessions, your team has rewritten the history books. When you look at what they have done, how do you think they have executed this plan in such dominant fashion?

LUKE DONALD: Yeah, I didn't really imagine this.

Obviously their job is not done yet but to have this stand in New York with most of the cheers coming from our side is incredible. Just the resiliency and the confidence these guys have in themselves, in their partners, is really, truly incredible.

Q. Tomorrow this team has got the opportunity to become one of the greatest teams that Europe has ever seen. As you sit on the edge of Ryder Cup history, what are your emotions?

LUKE DONALD: Listen, we are trying to get to 14 1/2 first and hopefully we can add on to that, too. The job is never done till it's done. So I'm not going to sit here and be complacent. I know how strong the U.S. or. They will have plenty of fight in them. They had plenty of fight today. Our guys had a lot, too, though.
