SCOTTISH OPEN

A Rolex Series Event

Q. 11-under par for two rounds is fantastic playing. What's been the key?

ANTOINE ROZNER: I think every part of the game were pretty solid, even though it could have been better off the tee I thought today.

But the short game, especially my putting, has been very solid inside ten feet -- well, I can't remember missing any to be honest today. That was key. I still haven't made a bogey so far, so that's helping, as well. But hopefully that can keep going for the weekend.

Q. It's rare to have two rounds without a bogey, even in benign conditions on this golf course. It's a difficult thing to do. What has been key to that?

ANTOINE ROZNER: A bit of luck. I got some good breaks to be very honest with you out there. Avoiding some traps at times when it should have been in the traps. But it's golf. It's links golf. You have to get away with bad shots and sometimes you will not get away with good shots. So you've got to be ready for that.

Hopefully everything will go like this for the weekend and yeah, hopefully I can put two more good scores.

Q. You're not currently qualified for The Open. How much is that in the back of your mind, some spots available?

ANTOINE ROZNER: It's definitely on my mind. As of now, I'm going to try to win this tournament. I'm in pretty good contention. But yeah, I'm trying to not think too much about this. There's still two rounds of golf to play. It's a big event for us, so whatever result I have, it will be good points and yeah, hopefully I can, yeah, as I said, play well this weekend and potentially qualify for The Open.
