Q. Just talk about your impressions of Pebble so far. Is this your first time ever coming here?

GEORGIA HALL: No, I played it here at the TaylorMade Invitational maybe like five, six years ago. Obviously have really fond memories. I think it's absolutely incredible. It's kind of one of the first places I've played practice rounds and actually really enjoying practice rounds.

The course is in great conditions, so excited for that this week.

Q. Obviously the first time the U.S. Women's Open is here. What does that mean to you and the women's game in general to have the Women's Open at such an iconic venue?

GEORGIA HALL: Yeah, I think it's massive for the game of golf, and especially for the women's game of golf. I think we really deserve to play on the best venues exactly like the men, and no reason why not.

And just really excited for the fans to come out and local people and everyone on TV to watch us play this great golf course.

Q. How is your game shaping up coming into the week? Anything that you're working on specifically?

GEORGIA HALL: Yeah, I feel my game is pretty good, and the golf course is set up very tough. Bad shots really will get penalized.

But I think yeah, definitely just working on my putting a lot and the pace putting because you can get lots of big breaks out here.

Q. Any expectations that you're setting for yourself or just trying to come out here and enjoy the moment?

GEORGIA HALL: Yeah, not really. I'm just going to -- four rounds of golf is a long time, and it's a really busy week for all of us players in this massive field. Just take tomorrow
